

THE NUMBERS GAME

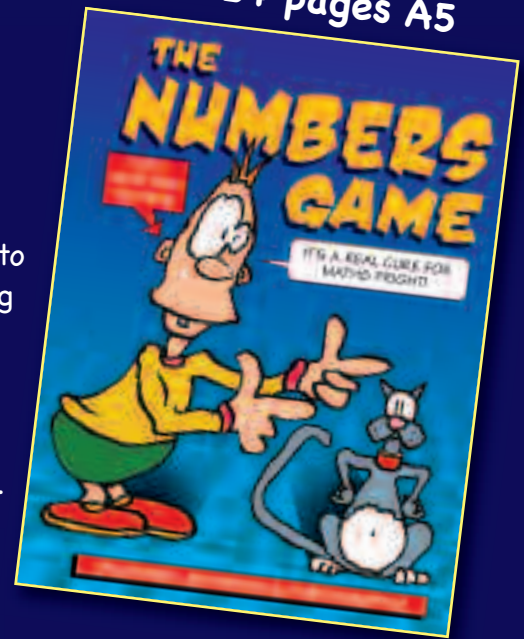

Drummond Johnstone & Chris Wakefield

24 pages A5

Many parents find maths quite scary and certainly wouldn't consider the subject to be fun. That feeling is often passed on to their kids.

The Numbers Game is for the whole family. It's colourful, lively, humorous and full of maths that is enjoyable and won't frighten anyone! Activities include problem solving, solving a murder, a game to learn times tables, how to multiply the Russian way, communicating through codes, the amazing Möbius Strip and much more.

For those who want to know a bit more, the clever, but somewhat 'nerdy', Matthew Mattick provides a bit more detail (and lots of silly jokes), with the help of his cat Digit, and pet mouse, Fraction.

The book is designed, and priced, to be purchased by schools, Children's Centres, libraries and others, and given out to parents, perhaps at a special event (like a Maths evening), or a workshop.

If you'd like to run a workshop for parents or families - for the Family Learning Festival, for example - we are providing FREE WORKSHOP NOTES which can be downloaded at www.southgatepublishers.co.uk
